Mayor Taggart returned to the city yesterday afternoon from his Western trip. He says he spent most of the time at Nogales, a station on the line between old Mexico and Arizona. He declares that his trip had no political significance and was made purely on private business. The mayor will rest a day or two before gothe office of chairman of the national com-

Mr. Taggart further declared that he is not a candidate for national committeeman from Indiana, although he expects to be elected. "I am the same way with this as I am with the national chairmanship.' he said last night. "I think the committeeman who is elected should be satisfactory to the Democracy of the State and should be a man fitted to represent the State on the committee. I have never written a letter or asked a man to be for me for either of these places. If all the things the delegates are reported to have said prove true I should receive twenty-three or twentyfour votes for national committeeman from

VAN WYCK FOR BRYAN

THE NEW YORK JUDGE ON HIS WAY TO KANSAS CITY.

When Seen at the Union Station Gave His Views on the Political Situation.

York, who has frequently been mentioned for high office, and a brother of Mayor Van Wyck, of New York city, passed through Indianapolis on the Pennsylvania road yesterday on his way to the Democratic convention at Kansas City. Judge Van Wyck was seen at the Union Station by a representative of the Journal and asked for an expression on the political situation. He said: "The political situation demands earnest consideration on our part, not simply as Democrats, but above all as lovers of our country and her welfare. "The Democracy of the East recognizes that a united West is potential in our national convention and assures the nomination of Colonel Bryan for President. His nonesty, patriotism and real love for the masses has never been questioned by friend or foe. The organized Democracy of the East will give him their earnest and heartiest support. The Democracy of New York has no selfish thought or purpose in any part that they may take in the grand council at Kansas City. The common welfare of the entire country alone concerns them, believing that this can only be subserved through the instrumentality of the Democratic party fighting existing as well as threatening evils of a Republican administration.

"A united Democracy can elect Colonel Bryan, so let the spirit of harmony prevail in our councils at Kansas City and then thereafter in each State and county thereof, welcoming Democrats of all shades in the spirit of that mutual concession so necessary to bring back those who have There is $13,464.40 interest to be paid to problem of government by the fruition of our war with Spain. Our country has expanded over islands in the Pacific and Atantic, and to an extent that would have made the great Caesar green with envy; but let us not make the mistake that Rome did in the treatment of those she conquered. She treated them as conquered and obey the Roman legions garrisoning their country and pay taxes. Such of these islands as have become American terri tory forever must be governed and treated according to American institutions and traditions and it does seem to me the policy of governing American territory not ready for statehood has been solved by over a century's experiments in the territorial form of government that was accorded from time to time all of the territory out side of the thirteen original States. In vite these island people to be of us and avoid the militarism that destroyed Rome at her apparently mightiest period of power. We should appeal to the American people, and especially the Pacific slope to keep on guard and on the right side o this question. We should appeal for the support of the united South in the coming contest, for they are threatened in case the Republicans secure another lease of power, with either a loss of representation in Congress or the danger of force bills to dominate their elections in favor of the Republican party. We appeal to the dominant West to help the organized Democ racy of the East to restore New York, New Jersey and Connecticut to the Democratic

A COUNTY FAIR

Proves an Attraction at the Odd Fellows' Hall.

The crowd that attended the county fair, held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, corner of Washington and Pennsylvania streets, last night, had a good time. The large hall was turned into a veritable playhouse, with amusements for the old and young and something new to catch the eye no matter was the sideshow, with attractions that envious. Snake charmers who did wonders with rubber animals, wild men from Borneo, the hairy man, etc., were all present to display their worth as freaks. The greatest of all attractions was the apartwhere soft drinks were served-that kind that leave a pleasant taste and cause no early morning headaches. Numerous signs were posted around this room to amuse the thirsty while they settled the dust. There were also wheels of fortune, cane racks, baby shows, etc., galore.

The fair is given for the benefit of Olive Branch, No. 10, Daughters of Rebekah, and is for the purpose of raising funds to pay the expenses of the degree team to Richmond. Va., in September, where the team will do the work before the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World in competition with other teams of the United States. The fair will be re row evening. James Washington Was Unconscious When Cut Down.

James Washington, colored, now under indictment for conspiracy to obtain money by false pretenses and awaiting trial at the county jail, said yesterday morning, after being cut down from an improvised gallows, that he would rather be dead than living. As C. E. Turner, night jailer, made the rounds yesterday morning to unlock the cells some of the prisoners came running to him saying there was a man hang ing in one of the cells. It was unlocked and unconsious man cut down. He receovered a short time afterward. The attempt at suicide was made with a blanket which had been torn up and made into a rope which was tied to the upper bunk with a toop on the hanging end. Washington was the supervisor of the Borman and Naynette Staley Discharged-Girl's Story.

After occupying about three days in Police Court the trial of E. B. Borman and Naynette Staley, charged with unlawfully living together at 218 East Pratt street, was completed and the defendants discharged yesterday, Judge Daly saying that in view of the circumstances, all of which were decidedly mixed according to the testimony the State had failed to make a case.

Jessie Carter, the keeper of a resort on West Georgia street, was fined $50 and costs. Her arrest was due to a report that a very young girl was being kept in the place, and when search was made an attempt was made to conceal the girl. She was Lillie Arlington, who claimed to have gone to the resort upon representation of the Carter woman, whom she met in a Chicago restaurant, that she wished a companion. She claimed not to have known the character of the house. Judgment in case of the girl was suspended and she was taken in charge by Rev. Wheeler.

EXPECTS A DECISION.

Interest on the School Bonds Is Involved.

A great deal depends on the action of the Supreme Court in its ruling on the validity of the school bonds as to the interest money to be paid on the bonds, which is due in New York te-morrow morning. As to-day is the last day of the Supreme Court session it is probable that the decision will be handed down this morning. through the National Park Bank, of that city. Of this amount $10,025 is due on the $500,000 issue of funding bonds made by the Indianapolis School Board last July, and the remainder is due on the $100,000 Public Library issue and the $40,000 in notes issued for the building of the Manual Training School. The holders of the bonds may apply for the interest money to-morrow mornning in New York. City Controller Johnson says that the only hope for the money to reach New York in time is by the Supreme Court making its ruling in the school-bond cases to-day.

Boys Played with a Revolver That Was Loaded.

Charles Caplinger, ten years of age, and another boy were playing last evening at the home of Tilford Howard, a boy of about the same age, living at 1062 West Morris street. A revolver was found in a bureau drawer and it was at once put into service for their amusement. The revolver was loaded and upon being first discharged the bullet lodged in young Caplinger's foot. He was at once taken to his home at 1005 West Morris street and a physician called. The injury was not serious.
